Patrolman Killed in Campus Riot

Police Jail 488
Texas Southern
Student Snipers

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — White-helmeted police, firing as they ran, stormed a men's dormitory at Texas Southern University today and halted student snipers who created a no-man's land on campus. A rookie patrolman was killed and two officers and a student wounded.

Police took 488 men students to jail and worked to discover which had fired the shot which killed Lewis R. Kuba, 25, who graduated from the police academy a month ago. Kuba was shot between the eyes in the dormitory which sheltered the snipers' nest.

Kuba died about 7 1/2 hours after he was shot.

Four hours and 3,000 police bullets after the first peppering of gunfire and the explosion of four crudely made fire bombs, officers secured the dormitory. They smashed down doors in their search for weapons and suspects, found one pistol, one shotgun and one rifle.

Mayor Louie Welch met this morning with police, the district attorney and officials of the predominantly Negro school, where the administration ordered classes as usual.

Welch said he believes there is a complete breakdown between the administration of Texas Southern and the student body of more than 7,000.

"When that happens, you have anarchy, and that's what we had last night," the mayor said.

It was the second riot in a week at a predominantly Negro college. Students seized temporary control of the campus at Jackson State College at Jackson, Miss., last Thursday. Students pelted police and drove them back with a barrage of rocks and bottles and burned barricades and looted at least one Jackson store. The Jackson outbreak was set off by the attempt of a Negro officer to arrest a Negro driver on charges of speeding through a campus street.

The Houston riot began about 10:15 p.m. Tuesday when Patrolman Robert Blavlock, 25, and his partner joined two criminal intelligence officers in surveillance duty at a rally on campus. Some 125 students were gathered to hear a talk by a student recruiting others for a candlelight demonstration at a city dump which resident Negroes want closed.

Nuclear Weapon Personnel Sifted for Psychic Flaws

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under a strict, almost puritanical program to guard against human nuclear control errors, the Pentagon has removed since 1962 more than 10,000 persons classified as unreliable from jobs involving atomic weapons.

The Air Force, with thousands of men assigned to Strategic Air Command bombers, Minuteman missile silos and the vast defense complex for keeping them ready, has reassigned more than 9,500 men.

The fledgling Defense Atomic Support Agency, created in 1959 to help lay out the services' nuclear warfare needs, has removed more than 200 from hypersensitive posts.

These figures were provided by the Pentagon in response to questions prompted by a Soviet general's observation that So-

Burning Measure Is Held for More Council Review

An ordinance that would govern outdoor burning of rubbish and garbage in the city was held to first reading Tuesday night by Circleville Council.

The proposed law contains seven sections, including provisions requiring a permit to kindle outside fires. The regulation applies to burning in alleys, streets or within 25 feet of buildings.

The ordinance was held to a initial reading in order to allow councilmen more time to consider the measure and to permit a sampling of public response on the move. A recommendation to follow this course of action was sounded by solon Robert Turner.

Section No. 1 denotes that no person, partnership, company or corporation shall ignite, kindle or cause to be kindled an open air fire within the city without first obtaining a burning permit from the fire chief.

HOWEVER, the proposed law points out that such permit will not be required for fires in a charcoal grill, and enclosed incinerators that meet specifications.

According to Section No. 3, no person, other than the city or its authorized agents, shall burn garbage in the open air, whether it be contained in a receptacle or not.

Red Chinese Say U.S. War Is Certain

CHICAGO (AP) — Leaders of Red China view the United States as traveling a path which will lead inevitably to war with their country, reporter Simon Malley says in the Chicago Daily News.

Malley, U.N. correspondent for the French language Jeune Afrique and other African newspapers, based his observations on exclusive interviews he said he had with Premier Chou En-lai in Peking.

Tuesday's story in the News was one of a series resulting from Malley's 19-day stay in China during March and April.

China has denied that Malley interviewed Chou, and has called the journalist's report a "fabrication."

Malley stuck by his assertion, and the News said it is "satisfied that Malley's report is authentic and accurate."

His report related that Chou is convinced that the United States and China will go to war. "Sooner or later," the Chinese leader is quoted as saying, "the United States will find itself in a situation where the realization of its imperialistic objectives will require the violation of our sovereignty and territorial integrity. And that day a military showdown will have become inevitable."

Hoover Claims Carmichael Tied To Chinese Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has told a congressional committee that Stokely Carmichael has been in frequent contact with the leader of "a Chinese Communist-oriented organization."

Hoover's appraisal of Carmichael, a leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee — SNCC — was given last February at a closed-door session of a House Appropriations subcommittee. The committee made it public this week.

Hoover said Carmichael "in espousing his philosophy of 'black power' has been in frequent contact with Max Stanford, field chairman of the Revolutionary Action Movement, a highly-secret, all-Negro, Marxist-Leninist, Chinese Communist-oriented organization which advocates guerrilla warfare to attain its goal."

Hong Kong Riots Spread Havoc In Business Area

HONG KONG (AP) — Anti-British rioters spread fire and destruction through the main business area of Hong Kong's Kowloon section today. New demonstrations were reported in Peking, and London sent a sharp official protest to Red China's government.

Outnumbered riot police fought running battles with at least three separate mobs that spilled out of Kowloon's Sanpo-kung industrial area, ripped by three days of violence last week, into the main Nathan Road business district across the harbor from Hong Kong Island.

The biggest mob, estimated by police at more than 3,000, smashed store and bank fronts, overturned and burned automobiles, and hurled rocks at police and spectators.

As night approached, the rioting was still a mile and a half from the hotels, and police said they thought they could keep it from reaching the tourist center.

Police fought back with tear gas and wooden batons, but many times the rioters defied them. One unit of six police turned and fled before a mob of 500.

Smaller groups of rioters threw rocks at one British court house in Kowloon and broke up proceedings in a second. A delegation of leftist Chinese leaders tried in vain to see Gov. Sir David Trench and warned he "had better be prepared to see us tomorrow."

In Peking, Red Guards and workers demonstrated for the third day outside the British legation, shaking their fists and chanting slogans.

The British Foreign Office in an unusually stiff note to Peking denounced the Chinese government's failure to protect British property and diplomatic personnel in Peking and Shanghai and demanded guarantees for the safety of British subjects on the Chinese mainland. The note was sent after a Chinese mob broke into the home of British envoy Peter Hewitt in Shanghai and smashed the furniture.

Mobs in Peking burned straw effigies of Prime Minister Harold Wilson Tuesday outside the office of British Charge d'Affaires Donald Hopson. The official New China News Agency said more than 400,000 persons took part in that demonstration.

Tennessee Throws Out 'Monkey Law'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The legislature has thrown out Tennessee's "monkey law" after 42 years of often bitter controversy over the teaching of evolution in public schools.

Gov. Buford Ellington is now expected to sign the bill, passed by the Senate Tuesday after earlier passage by the House. A young biology teacher who challenged the law in federal court says his suit will be withdrawn.

The Senate, avoiding more lengthy debate on the anti-evolution bill, passed it 20-13 and sent it to the governor just 24 hours after Gary Scott, 24, filed his federal court suit to strike down the law.

The law prohibited the teaching in public schools of any theory on the biological evolution of man, and the only man ever convicted under the statute, John L. Scopes of Shreveport, La., said he was "very happy" about the repeal.

Wildcat Strike Apparently Over

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A wildcat strike by dissident members of Teamsters Local 24 apparently was over today.

Trucks were moving again at Akron area terminals and no pickets appeared at the gates of 100 terminals which had been picketed since last Thursday.

Air Raids Back Marine Attack

SAIGON (AP) — American warplanes raided two surface to air missile sites the North Vietnamese were setting up in the demilitarized zone Tuesday night as a force of 5,000 U. S. Marines just south of the zone fought to root North Vietnamese regulars out of a complex of tunnels.

The U. S. Command said the antiaircraft missile sites which Marine jets bombed were located almost exactly on the 17th Parallel dividing North and South Vietnam and about eight miles in from the coast.

There was no immediate report of damage, and a headquarters spokesman did not say whether any of the big Soviet-built missiles were on the sites. These were the first SAM sites reported inside the demilitarized zone. Newsmen last weekend saw a Skyhawk jet downed by one of the "flying telephone poles" in the area, but the missile was believed to have been launched from another site — which was subsequently raided — just north of the zone.

SAM sites along the 17th Parallel could menace the high-flying U. S. B52s which regularly raid areas of Quang Tri Province just below the demilitarized zone.

A military spokesman said intensified Communist mortar, artillery and rocket fire continued along the line today, punctuated by occasional sharp ground fighting.

The battle began when a Marine company supported by tanks ran into about 150 Communists in a complex of tunnels and bunkers about a mile from (Continued on Page 2)

Syria, UAR Call Armies To Full Alert

CAIRO (AP) — Syria and the United Arab Republic placed their armed forces in a state of full alert today to counter what the Arabs say is an imminent Israeli military threat.

Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad received the Soviet Union's ambassador in Cairo Tuesday night to discuss "the situation resulting from mass Israeli troop concentrations on Syria's border," the semi-official Middle East News Agency said.

The agency also reported that David G. Nes, charge d'affaires at the U.S. Embassy, met with Ahmad Hassan Fikry, undersecretary of the Foreign Ministry, to review the potentially explosive tensions on the Israeli-Arab borders.

Israel insists it is taking only security measures along its frontiers. Reports from Israel said the people remained calm.

The semi-official newspaper Al Ahram reported the U.A.R. has notified the U.N. peace-keeping Force in the Gaza Strip it should withdraw at once beyond the Egyptian-Israeli armistice line "to avoid being subjected to danger in case of military action."

'Give-Aways' Are Illegal in Ohio

CINCINNATI (AP) — "Give-away prize" schemes conducted by some gasoline stations are illegal under Ohio law — says City Solicitor William C. McClain.

McClain issued this opinion Tuesday at the request of Joseph M. Rhelms, attorney for the Cincinnati Gasoline Dealers Association, who said many station operators are unhappy about the give-aways.

Bede Will Soon Leave On Flight

CLEVELAND (AP) — The man who plans to fly non-stop around the world will munch on astronauts' food and have the advice of an Air Force officer whose father helped design the historic Spirit of St. Louis.

James R. Bede said Tuesday he expects to take off in the next two to six weeks in his droopy-winged, single-engine experimental airplane. He figures to make the 24,800-mile trip in 6 1/2 days on $236 worth of gasoline.

Bede said the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will provide him with food used by Gemini astronauts.

Doctors at Ohio State University's aerospace laboratory have prescribed his diet.

The flight plan was developed by Capt. Richard Cullen, who volunteered his services. Capt. Cullen's father helped construct the Spirit of St. Louis, which carried Charles A. Lindbergh across the Atlantic Ocean 40 years ago Saturday.

Bede said he would take off from Cleveland if conditions are right. If not, he'll switch to Columbus to start the world-record attempt.

A U. S. Air Force B52 set the present record for straight-line, sub-orbital flight with a 12,532-mile trip from Okinawa to Madrid in 1962.

For 22 Years U.S. Has Hidden Hiroshima Films

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has suppressed for nearly 22 years confiscated Japanese films showing, ghastly after-effects of the 1945 atomic bombing of Hiroshima, U.S. officials revealed today.

The Japanese government has asked at least twice that restrictions on the film be lifted, but the U.S. government has refused on grounds it might damage U.S.-Japanese relations, said the informants.

Called in Japan "The Film of Illusion" because it wasn't supposed to exist, the film was taken by Tokyo University scientists rushed to Hiroshima soon after the bombing, the sources said.

The officials, who declined identification, said the Japanese scientists still were at work filming in the devastated city when U.S. officials arrived in Hiroshima and confiscated the film.

But the American authorities determined to finish the documentary and used the same Japanese professional cameramen who had taken the initial footage.

For many years, officials said, U. S. policy flatly opposed any distribution of the documentary because it showed in stark and gruesome detail blast effects and the bomb's impact in a densely populated area.

Mother, 2 Children Are Found; Father Escapes from Car

A concentrated search continued today for the bodies of two children who perished Tuesday evening, along with three other members of their family, when the car in which they were riding plunged into rain-swollen Walnut Creek.

The tragedy, the second to strike this community in less than a month, occurred about 7:30 p. m. at Perrill Road, approximately one mile south of the Pickaway-Franklin County line. The bodies of a mother and two of her children have been recovered. Divers and other authorities are still looking for the other two youngsters.

Trapped in the car were Mrs. Vester (Ruby) Phillips, 36, and children Diana, 11, Wendell, 9, Gary, 7, and Donald, 3. The father, 31, escaped from the car just after it plunged down the creek embankment.

The drowning, in terms of human loss, parallels the April 15 explosion and fire in downtown Circleville which claimed five lives.

PHILLIPS told authorities his wife was driving the car. The accident occurred within two miles of their home.

According to the father, the family was traveling north on the Circleville-Groveport Road and had turned right onto Perrill Road. He said he realized his wife was turning too much and told her to apply the brakes.

In giving an account of what happened, Phillips said his wife's foot apparently slipped off the brake pedal onto the accelerator and the vehicle veered down the creek bank. He said he jumped from the car.

The bodies of the children recovered were identified as Wendell, 9, and Vester Donald, 3. Authorities from Franklin and Ross Counties joined in the search for the bodies of Diana, 11, and Gary, 7.

The sheriff's department, in addition to directing the continuing search, is investigating all details surrounding the tragedy. Heading the probe are Chief Deputy George Linder and Sheriff Dwight Radcliff who returned from FBI School in Washington, D. C. when informed of the accident.

The creek was about five feet deep where the car struck the water and submerged. The spot is approximately 15 feet from the west bank of the creek.

London newspapers termed De Gaulle's statement "le brusquage," "a velvet veto" and the start of a new kind of cold war in Europe.

The French leader did not repeat his outright veto in 1963 of the first British application. But he outlined what he called "formidable obstacles" standing in the way of quick British entry into the six-nation European trading group.

He spoke of British isolation Commonwealth ties and its "special agreement" with the United States. Admitting Britain to the Common Market, he said, would lead to applications for membership from Britain's fellow members in the seven-nation European Free Trade Association — EFTA. And this would mean "building a totally new edifice and razing what has just been built," he said.

"The problem is not how De Gaulle can keep Britain out of Europe," said the Daily Mirror, "but how long De Gaulle's 'No' will be supported by the people of France."

"He is 76. History, impatiently, awaits the state funeral."

The independent London Times took a similar line, commenting: "It might well be argued that there is no hope of moving the general and that the best plan, therefore, is to prepare the ground for the day when he is no longer the head of affairs in France."

The drowning, in terms of human loss, parallels the April 15 explosion and fire in downtown Circleville which claimed five lives.

PHILLIPS told authorities his wife was driving the car. The accident occurred within two miles of their home.

According to the father, the family was traveling north on the Circleville-Groveport Road and had turned right onto Perrill Road. He said he realized his wife was turning too much and told her to apply the brakes.

In giving an account of what happened, Phillips said his wife's foot apparently slipped off the brake pedal onto the accelerator and the vehicle veered down the creek bank. He said he jumped from the car.

The bodies of the children recovered were identified as Wendell, 9, and Vester Donald, 3. Authorities from Franklin and Ross Counties joined in the search for the bodies of Diana, 11, and Gary, 7.

The sheriff's department, in addition to directing the continuing search, is investigating all details surrounding the tragedy. Heading the probe are Chief Deputy George Linder and Sheriff Dwight Radcliff who returned from FBI School in Washington, D. C. when informed of the accident.

The creek was about five feet deep where the car struck the water and submerged. The spot is approximately 15 feet from the west bank of the creek.

Commerce Branch 'Is in Bad Shape'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration failure to win approval for a proposed merger with the Labor Department has left the Commerce Department in a weakened condition that only President Johnson can cure.

The Commerce Department now is operating with four of its top executives, including the secretary, in acting roles only.

Sources close to the department said today they have heard nothing about the possible appointment of a permanent secretary, or whether Alexander B. Trowbridge, the acting secretary, will get the job.

Police Cite Man On Morals Count

Charles Keaton of Columbus cited by Circleville Police for indecent exposure, has been released under $1,000 bond pending a Municipal Court hearing set for May 29.

Keaton was allegedly identified by two 13-year-old girls who told police he chased them down an alley in his car at about 3 p. m. Tuesday.

The girls said he was unclothed. Police also received a report from an unidentified person that the man was driving his car and was unclothed.

His cries of distress were finally heard by a nearby resident, who immediately tried to place a call to the Pickaway Sheriff's Department. The resident informed authorities that a person who was using the telephone at the time would not hang up so an emergency call could be made.

Department employees reportedly are a bit uneasy because of the uncertainty.

Johnson has given no indication what his course will be and there has been little, if any, speculation in the matter. One out-of-government source theorized, however, that the longer Johnson waits the better the chances for Trowbridge, 37, to be named secretary.

Trowbridge has been in an acting status for 3½ months. Part of that time the administration was working toward merging the Commerce and Labor departments with related agencies.

But earlier this spring, the administration decided, reportedly because of intense labor opposition, against seeking the merger, and the plan was referred to the Labor-Management Advisory Committee.

That panel this month reportedly told the President it saw little point in studying the question and cited opposition within the committee. Labor was especially strong against it.

The business members were reportedly unenthusiastic.

Connor, who recommended the merger before resigning, said recently it is unlikely Congress will be asked to consider a merger plan this year or next year.

Mart Advance Is Slight

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market produced a lackluster advance early this afternoon, trimming its best early gain. Trading was fairly active.

The market rose from the start when gainers outnumbered losers by about 2 to 1. This margin was reduced to about 3 to 2 as the session continued.

In early trading the market resumed its rebound of Tuesday. Brokers were heartened by the ability of the list to weather warnings on speculation by big investment funds.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .45 at 886.25, having backed away from a rise of 1.84 at the end of the first hour.

Pickaway Quota For Draft Is 4

Pickaway County's Selective Service induction quota for June has been set at four by the Ohio Selective Service Board. Statewide, a call for 1,705 men has been issued to meet a net induction of 1,108.

The June call compared to a gross summons for 1,236 men and induction of 865 men for May, and a 1,855 gross call and 1,114 net induction for June of last year.

The induction call for other counties is:

Allen, 23; Athens, 11; Auglaize, 5; Clinton, 6; Defiance, 7; Fairfield, 12; Fayette, 8; Greene, 18; Highland, 6; Hocking, 6; Madison, 11; Mercer, 4; Paulding, 3; Perry, 5; Putnam, 7; Ross, 8; Van Wert, 7; Warren, 10.

Lockbourne Man Hurt in Mishap

Jack Baum, 43, Lockbourne, sustained a laceration of the right hand and leg in an automobile accident early today on County Road 525.

He was referred to a doctor for treatment. Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff James Lockard investigated.

His cries of distress were finally heard by a nearby resident, who immediately tried to place a call to the Pickaway Sheriff's Department. The resident informed authorities that a person who was using the telephone at the time would not hang up so an emergency call could be made.

Deputies recovered the bodies of Mrs. Phillips and of two of the children from the car. The other two children apparently were swept out of the vehicle through the right rear door which was open.

Searching operations were suspended near midnight because of danger involved in looking for the bodies in the swiftly moving and treacherous waters of the creek.

At daylight today, deputies were back at the scene with a boat and equipment to continue the search.

Recovering the bodies from the car, were Deputies James Lockard and Charles Jones and former deputy John Wolford.

State Patrolmen David Howard and Vic Ralston assisted. They administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to the three deceased persons as they were dragged from the car. The effort was of no avail.

The Ross County Sheriff's Department sent a skin diver to the area to aid in the search last night.

The Phillips family moved to this community in December of 1966. The three older children were students at Walnut Twp. Elementary School.

Mrs. Phillips was born Dec. 9, 1931, in Kentucky. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Hazel Moore Winters, four brothers and four sisters. All live in Kentucky.

In addition to their father and maternal grandmother, the children are survived by their paternal grandmother and step-grandfather, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Tipton of Columbus.

Funeral arrangements are being completed by the Bastian Funeral Home, Ashville.

Deputies Here Respond to Call for Aid

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies were called on for assistance early today by the Fairfield County Sheriff's Department.

The Fairfield Department had received a complaint of vandalism in Stoutsville. Deputy Frank Pairin was sent to check the report and found a car in a ditch outside the village with two men in it who allegedly broke windows in the area.

Deputy Pairin arrested one suspect and put him in the cruiser. He went to the car to get the other man and when he returned he discovered a third man had let the arrested man out. All three men then jumped him and beat him.

Deputy Pairin radioed for assistance and Pickaway County lawmen were dispatched to the scene. Deputies George Linder and Jim Lockard assisted in the apprehension of one suspect and turned him over to Fairfield officials.

The man is now being held in Fairfield County Jail. The other two men are still at large.

would be done following written application stating the reason or purpose of the fire, the time and place it is to be kindled and the safeguards that will be provided. Permission could be revoked if a change of stated conditions create unforeseen hazards.

The ordinance specifies the hours of burning shall be between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Enforcement would be through the police department and mayor. Violations would be punishable by fines of not less than $5 nor more than $25.

The burning proposal has been sanctioned by Richard Brenner, city sanitarian, and the Circleville Health Department. An ordinance governing collection and hauling of rubbish and garbage also is in the preparation stages.

ADDITIONAL legislative action during last night's brief session — the meeting lasted about 45 minutes — included an ordinance authorizing the safety director to enter into mutual aid fire contracts.

The contracts involve the local department and those in Harrison Twp., Pickaway Twp., Williamsport and New Holland.

Another ordinance held to first reading concerned council action on dedicating street names and directing the flow of traffic at Ted Lewis Park. Councilman Keith Wagner's suggestion the measure be referred to the safety committee for further study was accepted.

The Circleville Park Board has proposed the two streets at Ted Lewis be named Picnic Ave. and Recreation Road. According to "information available, police cannot enforce traffic regulations there unless the streets are dedicated and named."

In the way of routine reports, Police Chief Robert Temple urged councilmen to continue considering traffic lights at Court and Ohio Sts. and at the entrance to Ted Lewis Park. He said a need exists at both locations.

Three Youths Hurt 'Chasing' Sheriff's Car

Three local youths were injured slightly at 7:40 p. m. Tuesday in an accident that occurred while they were "chasing" a sheriff's car to the scene of the accident in which five persons were drowned.

Referred to a doctor for treatment were Thomas Parmer, 16, of 654 E. Mound St., Paul Vance, 18, of 500 E. Main St., Tom Tootle, 19, of 317 E. Ohio St.

Parmer was the driver of the car. The youths told Cpl. R. A. Schroer of the State Patrol they had seen the Pickaway Sheriff's Department cruisers leaving Circleville at a high rate of speed.

They decided to follow the cruisers to see what occurred. Parmer said he lost control on a sharp curve at the Circleville - Groveport Bell Station Roads. The car was demolished, officers said.

The investigating officer cited the driver to appear in Pickaway County Juvenile Court for driving at an excessive rate of speed.

In reporting the accident, Cpl. Schroer noted that the accident is an example of the additional problems that can be created by persons following law enforcement vehicles to the scene of an accident or other emergency situation.

The corporal, who was enroute to the drowning scene to assist with the investigation, was less than a mile behind Parmer's car.

While the battle raged, Red gunners poured 61 rounds of mortar, artillery and rocket shells on the Con Thien camp.

Paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Brigade supporting the Marines' southern flank in Quang Ngai Province killed 13 North Vietnamese regulars near Duc Pho. Six of the paratroopers were wounded.

Despite spotty weather, American airmen flew 123 missions over North Vietnam Tuesday. One raid reached about 30 miles northwest of Hanoi, up the Red River supply line from Red China, but many of the strikes were against suspected SAM sites in the area just north of the demilitarized zone.

Enemy units have infiltrated in strength to the west and south of Con Thien and the neighboring Marine outpost at Gio Linh. The two outposts and Dong Ha and Camp Carroll to the south were under constant mortar and rocket fire.

The whole region is boiling over with North Vietnamese and Viet Cong and bright with the flash of artillery. Counterbattery fire from dozens of U.S. Marine and Army guns blazes back at enemy muzzle flashes and U.S. Navy ships offshore boom in more shells.

Casualties in the action are approaching those the Marines took in their 12-day battle for three key hilltops in the Khe Sanh area to the west. After taking the hills May 5, the Marines announced 167 Americans killed and 436 wounded but said they killed more than 1,000 North Vietnamese.

With great numbers of potential fingers on the trigger, the Pentagon in 1962 launched a human reliability program to cull out "individuals who display indications of excessive worry, anxiety or apprehensions" concerning their jobs.

Although U.S. intercontinental ballistic missile strength is peaking out at a planned 1,000 land-based and 656 submarine-borne missiles, the whole area of human reliability may receive new scrutiny with possible deployment of antimissiles.

If the United States decides to deploy its Nike X system of thermonuclear-tipped interceptor missiles, there will be a whole new network of missile batteries requiring hundreds of top security personnel to man and support them.

Practically all the 10,000-plus individuals removed from nuclear slots between 1962 and 1966 have been reassigned to other jobs. Some may have been forced out of the service, although the Pentagon will give no numbers nor say how many punitive actions may have been taken.

Basic reasons for the removals, the Pentagon says, include adverse actions on duty, reprimands or admonishments, excessive drinking, negligence, scrapes with the law, heavy indebtedness, marital problems and poor attitude or lack of motivation toward duty with nuclear weapons.

40,000 jobs associated with guarding, moving, handling, loading or delivery of atomic weapons.

With great numbers of potential fingers on the trigger, the Pentagon in 1962 launched a human reliability program to cull out "individuals who display indications of excessive worry, anxiety or apprehensions" concerning their jobs.

Although U.S. intercontinental ballistic missile strength is peaking out at a planned 1,000 land-based and 656 submarine-based missiles, the whole area of human reliability may receive new scrutiny with possible deployment of antimissiles.

If the United States decides to deploy its Nike X system of thermonuclear-tipped intercept missiles, there will be a whole new network of missile batteries requiring hundreds of top security personnel to man and support them.

Practically all the 10,000-plus individuals removed from nuclear slots between 1962 and 1966 have been reassigned to other jobs. Some may have been forced out of the service, although the Pentagon will give no numbers nor say how many punitive actions may have been taken.

Basic reasons for the removals, the Pentagon says, include adverse actions on duty, reprimands or admonishments, excessive drinking, negligence, scrapes with the law, heavy indebtedness, marital problems and poor attitude or lack of motivation toward duty with nuclear weapons.

Poppy Day Slated for Saturday

America's newest veterans are those who have served in Vietnam. This new veteran class represents the American effort to keep the U. S. safe for those who are at home.

Vietnam disabled veterans are now working together in the production of the bright red poppy for the American Legion Auxiliary Poppy Day for 1967. It continues the tradition of veterans of the First and Second World War and Korea in the poppy program.

POPPY DAY — Vietnam veterans, such as this man, are participating in the memorial of his comrades by making the red poppies for Poppy Day on May 20.

Freshmen and sophomores SOS girls from the Circleville Junior and Senior High Schools will join with members of Hall-Adkins Legion Auxiliary 134 on May 20 to offer the bright red memorial poppies to citizens of Circleville.

All workers in the program are volunteers and all proceeds are forwarded to the veterans who produce the poppies, says Mrs. Robert Stephens, Poppy Day chairman.

Vandalism Probed
The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department is investigating reported acts of vandalism that occurred Tuesday in Ringgold.

Windows were broken at the home of Irlan Ritchie and at the Stumbo Store there, deputies said.

Search Still

hail passing cars for aid were ignored by at least four motorists, Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies were told.

His cries of distress were finally heard by a nearby resident, who immediately tried to place a call to the Pickaway Sheriff's Department. The resident informed authorities that a person who was using the telephone at the time would not hang up so an emergency call could be made.

ALTHOUGH deputies were to the scene within 10 minutes after receiving the call, they estimate that 20 minutes or more may have elapsed before Phillips was able to attract attention to his plight.

Deputies recovered the bodies of Mrs. Phillips and of two of the children from the car. The other two children apparently were swept out of the vehicle through the right rear door which was open.

Searching operations were suspended near midnight because of danger involved in looking for the bodies in the swiftly moving and treacherous waters of the creek.

At daylight today, deputies were back at the scene with a boat and equipment to continue the search.

Recovering the bodies from the car, were Deputies James Lockard and Charles Jones and former deputy John Wolford.

State Patrolmen David Howard and Vic Ralston assisted. They administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to the three deceased persons as they were dragged from the car. The effort was of no avail.

The Ross County Sheriff's Department sent a skin diver to the area to aid in the search last night.

The Phillips family moved to this community in December of 1966. The three older children were students at Walnut Twp. Elementary School.

Mrs. Phillips was born Dec. 9, 1931, in Kentucky. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Hazel Moore Winters, four brothers and four sisters. All live in Kentucky.

In addition to their father and maternal grandmother, the children are survived by their paternal grandmother and step-grandfather, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Tippie of Columbus.

Funeral arrangements are being completed by the Bastian Funeral Home, Ashville.

Travel and Parks

According to the latest information concerning travel, approximately one-fourth of the vacationists who have at least two weeks to spend on a holiday will visit the mountains and the national parks before fall.

At one time the veteran American traveler thought it necessary to visit the Alps or journey to the Norwegian fjords. Frequently some hardy soul would fight the rigors of the climate and high altitudes in the Caucasus, the Himalayas and the Andes. More Americans than ever will visit Europe this year, but most itineraries will be restricted to low-lying cities.

Traveling about the world has a settling influence, and it is gradually dawning upon the globe-trotter that the United States holds supremacy in world scenery. The sweeping ranges, the great forests and beautiful waters are the most fascinating in the world. The Grand Canyon, Yellowstone and the Yosemite Valley compare favorably with international scenery anywhere.

In order to prove that America surpasses add Glacier National Park, Crater Lake, Mt. Rainier, Sequoia National Park, Mount McKinley, the Black Hills the Tetons, the Smokies and many equally famous.

The distinguishing features in which American scenery excels are startling. Glacial formation which rival the Alps. Coloring in combination with these features surpassing anything in Europe and Asia. Forests which are transcendent of any mountain woods in the world. Lakes which surpass any others. Canyons without peer for coloring and other beauty.

Some of the greatest wild animal preserves anywhere are available to the public. In general nature has blessed America with bountiful beauty for enrichment of the human mind.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) —The replacement of the line at the water cooler with the line at the office copying machine is a tribute to the growing sophistication of American technology.

This technology now is creating brand-new industries and establishing new methods in old ones. It is tumbling out new products in such volume, in fact, that newer products endanger the sale of new products.

And, based on recent experience, the pace of new technology may even become swifter. A survey by McGraw-Hill indicates that $16.6 billion will be spent by American business this year on research and development, up $1.1 billion from 1966.

Behind this growth are two huge demands: the demand of the U.S. government for solutions to national problems, defense especially; the recognition by industry that new products are the big moneymakers.

The resulting cornucopia of new products is symbolized by the office copier, which has now become part of an $800-million-a-year industry, several times larger than in 1960.

The dry copier probably goes back to the 1840s, when blue-print machines were in use. Photostat machines were developed at the turn of the century, and in another 20 years processes using chemically treated papers were invented.

It was close to another 20 years, however, before Chester Carlson developed a machine that has led to the modern electrostatic copier. And it took another 20 years, until 1960, before a simple, push-button machine based on this principle was marketed.

Then the flood began. One company after another entered the business as copying became a simple procedure. Something more than 10 billion copies are now made each year, many of them to serve needs that weren't even recognized until the means were made available.

Still, we are told by those in the industry, this is nowhere near the fulfillment of copying's destiny. For the most part this enormous volume is still the result of an almost casual desire to make one or two copies.

This casual desire soon may become a need for copies in volume. Research is even more intense now, for the goal is to tie the office copier to other business machines so as to construct brand-new systems of office procedure.

Beyond that goal is still another. Since information is proliferating, the act of copying is seen as merely the first stage in processes, still to be developed, involving recording, storing, transmitting and retrieving of information almost instantly.

This is only one instance of the big payout from research and development. Many well-known companies did not exist two decades ago. Now highly profitable from research and development — and highly glamorous to stock traders — they are the result of long efforts at (1) basic research, (2) applied research and (3) developmental research.

In the copying industry the basic research was the search for a new copying process; the applied research, in how to use this product in a commercial way; and the development, in perfecting and marketing the product.

Travel and Parks

According to the latest information concerning travel, approximately one-fourth of the vacationists who have at least two weeks to spend on a holiday will visit the mountains and the national parks before fall.

At one time the veteran American traveler thought it necessary to visit the Alps or journey to the Norwegian fjords. Frequently some hardy soul would fight the rigors of the climate and high altitudes in the Caucasus, the Himalayas and the Andes. More Americans than ever will visit Europe this year, but most itineraries will be restricted to low-lying cities.

Traveling about the world has a settling influence, and it is gradually dawning upon the globe-trotter that the United States holds supremacy in world scenery. The sweeping ranges, the great forests and beautiful waters are the most fascinating in the world. The Grand Canyon, Yellowstone and the Yosemite Valley compare favorably with international scenery anywhere.

In order to prove that America surpasses add Glacier National Park, Crater Lake, Mt. Rainier, Sequoia National Park, Mount McKinley, the Black Hills the Tetons, the Smokies and many equally famous.

The distinguishing features in which American scenery excels are startling. Glacial formation which rival the Alps. Coloring in combination with these features surpassing anything in Europe and Asia. Forests which are transcendent of any mountain woods in the world. Lakes which surpass any others. Canyons without peer for coloring and other beauty.

Some of the greatest wild animal preserves anywhere are available to the public. In general nature has blessed America with bountiful beauty for enrichment of the human mind.

The Business World

By John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) —The replacement of the line at the water cooler with the line at the office copying machine is a tribute to the growing sophistication of American technology.

This technology now is creating brand-new industries and establishing new methods in old ones. It is tumbling out new products in such volume, in fact, that newer products endanger the sale of new products.

And, based on recent experience, the pace of new technology may even become swifter. A survey by McGraw-Hill indicates that $16.6 billion will be spent by American business this year on research and development, up $1.1 billion from 1966. Behind this growth are two huge demands: the demand of the U.S. government for solutions to national problems, defense especially; the recognition by industry that new products are the big money-makers.

The resulting cornucopia of new products is symbolized by the office copier, which has now become part of an $800-million-a-year industry, several times larger than in 1960.

The dry copier probably goes back to the 1840s, when blue-print machines were in use. Photostat machines were developed at the turn of the century, and in another 20 years processes using chemically treated papers were invented.

It was close to another 20 years, however, before Chester Carlson developed a machine that has led to the modern electrostatic copier. And it took another 20 years, until 1960, before a simple, push-button machine based on this principle was marketed.

Then the flood began. One company after another entered the business as copying became a simple procedure. Something more than 10 billion copies are now made each year, many of them to serve needs that weren't even recognized until the means were made available.

Still, we are told by those in the industry, this is nowhere near the fulfillment of copying's destiny. For the most part this enormous volume is still the result of an almost casual desire to make one or two copies.

This casual desire soon may become a need for copies in volume. Research is even more intense now, for the goal is to tie the office copier to other business machines so as to construct brand-new systems of office procedure.

Beyond that goal is still another. Since information is proliferating, the act of copying is seen as merely the first stage in processes, still to be developed, involving recording, storing, transmitting and retrieving of information almost instantly.

This is only one instance of the big payout from research and development. Many well-known companies did not exist two decades ago. Now highly profitable from research and development — and highly glamorous to stock traders — they are the result of long efforts at (1) basic research, (2) applied research and (3) developmental research.

In the copying industry the basic research was the search for a new copying process; the applied research, in how to use this product in a commercial way; and the development, in perfecting and marketing the product.

"I want to report an escaped husband!"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

EARLY IN THE nineteenth century, according to Charles

Poore, there was a sailor aboard an English man-of-war whose particular task was the care of a big iron cannon on the afterdeck. One day he did not do his job thoroughly. The ship rode into a furious gale, the cannon tore loose from its moorings, careened about the slippery deck and bowled two seamen overboard. Further casualties were avoided only when the negligent sailor himself, regardless of the danger involved, crawled out on the deck and, single-handed, tied the cannon down.

When the man-of-war reached port, a resourceful admiral saw to it that the sailor received his just award for conspicuous bravery. Then he was hung for negligence.

A Chicago newspaper editor pinned this notice to the city room bulletin board: "How's for learning to spell that word 'judgment' correctly? Let's repeat to ourselves every morning. This is the day I'll spell 'judgment' without an E! Praise be to the first man who accomplishes this great feat."

Later that day a newshawk put this memo alongside the above: "Dear Ed: I tried to spell judgment without an E today and it came out 'Judgmt.' How do I get out of THIS predicament?"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

What method does a doctor use if he himself wants to lose excess weight?

Within the framework of this question is a trap. You know, of course, that there are no special methods or drugs that physicians would save only for themselves. The safe drugs and diets that he uses on his patients are identical with the ones he tries himself.

He fails to lose weight just as his patients do if he disregards the fundamental rule of weight reduction; if you take in more calories than you spend you must gain weight.

Because doctors are just as lax as their patients they too suffer from the end results of obesity. Heart and lung conditions, kidney and vascular disorders take a large toll in people in any social level if they are decidedly overweight. Doctors are no exception.

Doctors are often asked for a "strong pill" to curb the appetite. These drugs must never be used indiscriminately for long periods of time without medical advice. They may be potentially harmful when taken by people with high blood pressure, diabetes and other circulatory problems.

There are many full and liberal diets that can satisfy hunger if the individual is really psychologically ready to lose weight and maintain a steady level. When I say "ready to lose weight" I mean that the emotional reasons for constant nibbling, drinking and indulging oneself with fatty foods must be completely understood.

When once serious weight reduction starts there is great satisfaction and, even more important, better health.

I think I'll start my diet today. . . .

Can severe rages of anger and bad temper cause physical ailments? It is an accepted fact that the emotions play a vital role in all physical disorders. This is the basic law of psychoso-

Day with Charlie Company

By JOHN LENGEL

CHU LAI, Vietnam (AP) —It was another day of "the walk in the sun," a day where nobody shoots at you, nothing much happens, and Charlie Company got what it considers a break: rain.

The thunderheads masked the searing sun. A cool breeze fanned the dry paddies. Rain came down in sheets. No one covered up. They just soaked it up.

Charlie Company of the 1st Battalion, 14th Infantry, is a unit of the 3rd Brigade, U.S. 25th Division, an outfit that has put together a full year of continuous combat operations.

The brigade keeps moving. Except for its clerks and supply personnel, who take up a corner of the 4th Division's base camp in the highlands, 3rd Brigade men eat, clean up and fight on the fly.

Charlie Company's idea of a good time is guarding some remote landing zone while the other companies sweep the surrounding jungle.

Charlie got two days for Christmas at the 4th Division camp, then back to the field and the highland jungles where it had been for nearly eight months. It was two days for New Year's at the same camp.

Then the battalion was trucked to coastal Binh Dinh in central Vietnam for Operation Thayer II—fighting and more walking—and Operation Pershing.

"We've been to a shower point four times since then," says the company commander, Capt. Robert G. Eklund of Osceola, Neb. "Streams are a big favorite with us."

April 19, the battalion was lifted to Chu Lai in the northern 1st Corps military sector. Charlie Company went right into the field.

Officers do paperwork in foxholes. Replacements get acquainted in the field.

The men scribble letters during a break, write "Free" on the envelopes and hand them to one of Eklund's radio operators who gets the mail to a helicopter crewman.

New boots, fatigues and socks are requested by radio.

A man back after six weeks in a hospital in Japan is asked by the sergeant: "Hey, did you get my china?"

"No, they didn't have your pattern." The sergeant, a veteran of 18 years, laments, "My wife will kill me."

Trap Waits for the West

By John Chamberlain

Slowly, at the southern end of the Red Sea, a new trap is being prepared to catch the ever-unready West. The springing of the trap waits upon the British departure from their historic naval base at Aden, which is scheduled for next year.

The two nations that are convining to change the balance of power at the crossroads where Asia, Africa, and Mediterranean Europe meet have different ends in view. Nasser's Egypt is out to throw a strangulating noose around Israel. The Soviet Union in seeking to cut the world in two at a point where Europe's oil supply is strategically involved. But the means to the different ends are the same: shut the Red Sea at both ends.

The threat to Israel is the hidden kicker that should wake up our somnolent "liberals." For, if Nasser and the Kremlin are to achieve their differing goals, this little country must be blotted out. Already the Egyptian noose is tightening on the beleaguered Israelis. The Soviets have rebuilt Nasser's army, sending technicians to teach the Egyptians how to operate and maintain a thousand new tanks. To the north, the Russians have armed the Syrians, who agree with Nasser on undermining Israel, with the latest MIG planes. But the time for direct confrontation of Arab and Israel is not yet. First, there is the matter of the southern end of the Red Sea.

If this can be pinched off by Soviet-Egyptian contriving, the new Israeli port of Eilat on the Gulf of Aqaba, an arm of the Red Sea which laps the eastern shore of the Sinai peninsula, can be closed to world shipping. Anthony Harrigan, a profound student of Near Eastern strategy, has reported on the current construction of a 30-inch oil pipeline which will connect Eilat with the new Israeli port of Ashdod on the Mediterranean. Since the Egyptians already refuse to let Israeli ships through the Suez Canal, the pipeline would enable Israel to get oil traffic which she is now denied. Oil from the Persian Gulf would simply be pumped out of tankers on the Gulf of Aqaba-Red Sea side and flow overland through the Negev desert to ships at Mediterranean docks. This would be cheaper for the European customer than sending tankers through the Suez Canal.

The squeeze on the hopeful new Israeli port on the Gulf of Aqaba would follow completion of Nasser's Yemen adventure. Nasser already has an army of 50,000 Russian-equipped soldiers in Yemen, which is on the eastern side of the Red Sea just above the British installations at Aden. And in the so-called Horn of Africa, just across the Gulf of Aden, the Somali tribesmen are being armed by the Soviets, to stir trouble in Kenya, French Somaliland, and Ethiopia.

Thus the southern jaw of the trap is being set the northern jaw involves a more complex strategy on the part of the Russians. For, to prepare this, the American Sixth Fleet must be expelled from the Mediterranean.

The Soviets have already warned us that we must go. They have been building more nuclear submarines, and they have combined their Black Sea and Baltic Sea navies into one. On the southern coast of the Mediterranean the Algerians have reportedly received seventy-five MIG fighter-bombers, along with tanks, helicopters, torpedo boats, ground-to-air missiles, and radar systems, as part of their "aid" from Moscow. Trouble in Greece, Cyprus, and Morocco, and the revival of Spanish claims to Gibraltar, feed the air of tension in the Mediterranean. The stakes in keeping this artery open are huge, for at any given moment some thirteen hundred merchant vessels are either sailing its waters or anchored in its ports. Five hundred of these are oil tankers.

If the Nasser-Moscow Axis succeeds in closing the Red Sea, giant tankers built like the unfortunate Torrey Canyon would carry oil around the Cape of Good Hope. But when a ship as large as the Torrey Canyon is loaded it weighs as unwieldy 118,000 tons. Slow and cumbersome, a Torrey Canyon would be an easy mark for a submarine.

The West has the power to counter the ambitions of Nasser and his Moscow allies. But public opinion should be alerted to the problem posed by the British withdrawal from Aden. And American "liberals" who love both Russia and Israel must realize the incompatibility of such affections.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department says it is unable to verify a published report that neutral observers have sighted the 750-mile-range Soviet Shyster missile in North Vietnam.

The missiles, which could have Saigon within range from a North Vietnam launching station, are similar to those taken into Cuba in 1962, resulting in the U. S.-Soviet missile crisis.

Aviation Week and Space Technology magazine reported the intermediate-range missiles were seen in the Hanoi area. A Defense Department spokesman said, "We have nothing to confirm that report."

The Shyster missile can carry nuclear or conventional warheads.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Molds in stored grains and some other foods could result in cancer of the liver or stomach, a government scientist has told Congress.

Dr. Kenneth M. Endicott, head of the National Cancer Institute, said studies are under way to determine the implications of toxic products of fungus that contaminate food.

This problem, Endicott added, "is likely to have a major impact on food technology in this country. These molds are widespread in nature, and in stored grains, and in many different types of food molds grow and are capable of producing these toxic materials."

In testimony before a House Appropriations subcommittee, released Tuesday, Endicott said he believes there will be major changes in the way food is harvested and stored in order to prevent formation of the molds.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is withholding some major items which were supposed to be delivered to Greece under the military aid program for that country, recently taken over by the army.

$200 Million Increase School Bill Introduced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill to boost state expenditures for public schools $200 million above what is being spent in the current biennium was up for introduction in the Ohio House today.

Rep. Walter L. White R-6 Allen said his measure would go $160 million beyond the $40 million increased proposed by Gov. James A. Rhodes in his two-year budget. Rhodes' proposal covered enrollment increases only.

White's bill would raise to $866 million the state's outlay for public schools in the two years starting July 1.

A bill that would bring more rodeos into Ohio over protests of the Humane Society and other groups meanwhile headed toward an uncertain fate in the House today.

Other business on tap today included expected House Finance Committee approval of the administration's $4.9 billion operating budget for the 1967-69 biennium.

The committee neared the end of deliberations Tuesday night with addition of an amendment which would require the state to pay for maintenance of freeways inside cities.

During busy floor sessions Tuesday, the Senate gave unanimous approval to a pair of bills designed to attract and aid industries and the House voted down a resolution asking Congress to increase income tax exemptions from $600 to $1,200 for each dependent.

Opponents called the resolution "an exercise in futility" and criticized it for not proposing means to compensate for anticipated federal revenue loss of $15-$16 billion a year.

Sen. Walter Powell R-4 Butler won unanimous approval of an administration bill which would permit the state counties and municipalities to issue interest-free revenue bonds for industrial purposes.

The measure, which now goes to the House, would permit political subdivisions to enter into agreements with industries for construction, equipment, lease sale of new or expanded facilities. No tax revenues could be used to pay off the bonds. Sen. Harry Armstrong R-17 Hocking sponsored another successful Senate measure which would establish procedures for underground disposal of certain

Prosecution Rests Case In Levy's Court-Martial

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The prosecution in the court-martial of Army Capt. Howard B. Levy has rested its case after calling 27 witnesses, including a dozen of the Army's Special Forces medics.

The Green Beret medics testified that Levy refused to train them and told them U.S. involvement in Vietnam is both illegal and immoral. The prosecution's case was completed late Tuesday.

Before presentation of defense witnesses begins, Col. Earl V. Brown, th law officer for the court-martial, must rule on defense question as to whether the truth or falsity of allegedly disloyal statements attributed to Levy are relevant to his defense.

Also pending is a defense request to subpoena several high-ranking officers, including Col. Francis J. Kelly, commander of the Army's crack Special Forces troops in Vietnam.

The prosecution had objected in grounds the defense had not shown the testimony would be relevant enough to justify the expense of bringing them to South Carolina and the possible disruption of the war effort.

Capt. Levy, 30, a Brooklyn-born medical doctor, is charged with disobeying an order to teach dermatology to Special Forces medics at the Ft. Jackson base hospital, with making disloyal statements about the U.S. war effort in Vietnam; and with trying to persuade enlisted personnel not to serve in Vietnam.

He could be sentenced to a maximum of 11 years in federal prison if convicted by the court-martial panel of 10 field grade officers, including four who fought in Vietnam.

Defense cross-examination during the first week of the court-martial was intended to show that Special Forces medics are essentially combat troops, and are also used for political "pacification" of Vietnam peasants who come to them for medical treatment.

One of the last prosecution witnesses was Sgt. I.C. Geoffrey Hancock Jr., who was brought from Okinawa to testify and told of receiving a letter from Levy while serving in Vietnam in 1965. The letter criticized the war effort, and said in part:

"Your real battle is back here in the U.S. but why must I fight it for you. The same people who suppress Negroes and poor whites here are doing it all over the world, and you are helping them."

Hancock, who is white, said he had never met Levy and assumed the letter was sent to him "because my wife is colored."

He said Levy wrote him at the request of a mutual friend, Bill Treanor, a former Army buddy who had recently worked for Dr. Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

The missiles, which could have Saigon within range from a North Vietnam launching station, are similar to those taken into Cuba in 1962, resulting in the U. S.-Soviet missile crisis.

Aviation Week and Space Technology magazine reported the intermediate-range missiles were seen in the Hanoi area. A Defense Department spokesman said, "We have nothing to confirm that report."

The Shyster missile can carry nuclear or conventional warheads.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Molds in stored grains and some other foods could result in cancer of the liver or stomach, a government scientist has told Congress.

Dr. Kenneth M. Endicott, head of the National Cancer Institute, said studies are under way to determine the implications of toxic products of fungus that contaminate food.

This problem, Endicott added, "is likely to have a major impact on food technology in this country. These molds are widespread in nature, and in stored grains, and in many different types of food molds grow and are capable of producing these toxic materials." In testimony before a House Appropriations subcommittee, released Tuesday, Endicott said he believes there will be major changes in the way food is harvested and stored in order to prevent formation of the molds.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is withholding some major items which were supposed to be delivered to Greece under the military aid program for that country, recently taken over by the army.

Minor military hardware will continue to be shipped, State Department officials said.

The Associated Press reported more than a week ago that Washington will be selective in its military aid to Greece in the wake of the April 21 coup.

Greece is an Allied country in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Capital Footnotes

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson will visit Vermont, Massachusetts, Maine and New Hampshire June 9-12. She will receive an honorary degree from Middlebury College in Vermont and visit historic, conservation and restoration sites in the four states.

$200 Million Increase School Bill Introduced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill to boost state expenditures for public schools $200 million above what is being spent in the current biennium was up for introduction in the Ohio House today.

Rep. Walter L. White R-6 Allen said his measure would go $160 million beyond the $40 million increased proposed by Gov. James A. Rhodes in his two-year budget. Rhodes' proposal covered enrollment increases only.

White's bill would raise to $86 million the state's outlay for public schools in the two years starting July 1.

A bill that would bring more roads into Ohio over protests of the Humane Society and other groups meanwhile headed toward an uncertain fate in the House today.

Other business on tap today included expected House Finance Committee approval of the administration's $4.9 billion operating budget for the 1967-69 biennium.

The committee neared the end of deliberations Tuesday night with addition of an amendment which would require the state to pay for maintenance of freeways inside cities.

During busy floor sessions Tuesday, the Senate gave unanimous approval to a pair of bills designed to attract and aid industries and the House voted down a resolution asking Congress to increase income tax exemptions from $600 to $1,200 for each dependent.

Opponents called the resolution "an exercise in futility" and criticized it for not proposing means to compensate for anticipated federal revenue loss of $15-$16 billion a year.

Sen. Walter Powell R-4 Butler won unanimous approval of an administration bill which would permit the state counties and municipalities to issue interest-free revenue bonds for industrial purposes.

The measure, which now goes to the House, would permit political subdivisions to enter into agreements with industries for construction, equipment, lease sale of new or expanded facilities. No tax revenues could be used to pay off the bonds.

Sen. Harry Armstrong R-17 Hocking sponsored another successful Senate measure which would establish procedures for underground disposal of certain

Prosecution Rests Case In Levy's Court-Martial

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The prosecution in the court-martial of Army Capt. Howard B. Levy has rested its case after calling 27 witnesses, including a dozen of the Army's Special Forces medics.

The Green Beret medics testified that Levy refused to train them and told them U.S. involvement in Vietnam is both illegal and immoral. The prosecution's case was completed late Tuesday.

Before presentation of defense witnesses begins, Col. Earl V. Brown, th law officer for the court-martial, must rule on defense question as to whether the truth or falsity of allegedly disloyal statements attributed to Levy are relevant to his defense.

Also pending is a defense request to subpoena several high-ranking officers, including Col. Francis J. Kelly, commander of the Army's crack Special Forces troops in Vietnam.

The prosecution had objected in grounds the defense had not shown the testimony would be relevant enough to justify the expense of bringing them to South Carolina and the possible disruption of the war effort.

Capt. Levy, 30, a Brooklyn-born medical doctor, is charged with disobeying an order to teach dermatology to Special Forces medics at the Ft. Jackson base hospital, with making disloyal statements about the U.S. war effort in Vietnam and with trying to persuade enlisted personnel not to serve in Vietnam.

He could be sentenced to a maximum of 11 years in federal prison if convicted by the court-martial panel of 10 field grade officers, including four who fought in Vietnam.

Defense cross-examination during the first week of the court-martial was intended to show that Special Forces medics are essentially combat troopers, and are also used for political "pacification" of Vietnam peasants who come to them for medical treatment.

One of the last prosecution witnesses was Sgt. I.C. Geoffrey Hancock Jr., who was brought from Okinawa to testify and told of receiving a letter from Levy while serving in Vietnam in 1965. The letter criticized the war effort, and said in part:

"Your real battle is back here in the U.S. but why must I fight it for you. The same people who suppress Negroes and poor whites here are doing it all over the world, and you are helping them."

Hancock, who is white, said he had never met Levy and assumed the letter was sent to him "because my wife is colored."

He said Levy wrote him at the request of a mutual friend, Bill Treanor, a former Army buddy who had recently worked for Dr. Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Not Fat Enough - That's Show Biz!

DEAR ABBY: My daughter went to New York to try out for a part in a Broadway musical. She is a very beautiful and talented girl. She is a little on the heavy side right now, but the part called for a girl who weighed at least 200 pounds and could dance. Well, my daughter weighed 220 pounds and she is a wonderful dancer. When she got there she was told she was too THIN. She spent her own money for the trip and was terribly disappointed. Inasmuch as she met the qualifications, can't she sue for the cost of the trip? HER MOTHER: DEAR ABBY: Anyone can sue for anything he wishes. But whether he can collect is something else. Too bad she didn't get the job, but I'm sure it was worth a lot to a 220 pound girl to be told she was "too thin" for something. DEAR ABBY: I am fast losing my faith in my friends. I have just gone thru an operation that has altered my facial expression. Part of my face is permanently paralyzed.

The operation was easy to endure compared to the pain I have suffered from the remarks of some of my friends. One woman said, "Now you will know how the rest of us plain Janes feel. Welcome to the club."

Another said, "It will be harder for you than the average woman to adjust to being homely. That's one of the penalties of having had good looks and suddenly losing them."

Abby, I have never been vain about my looks, knowing that real beauty comes from within. I am horrified at these so-called condolences in the name of friendship.

HURT: DEAR HURT: If those who have made the remarks you quoted are your "friends," I would say that you would be much happier without their friendship.

DEAR ABBY: I think you were a little too rough on the husband who told his wife not to invite any of her widow friends to their dinner parties because he hated to chauffeur them home afterwards.

My wife has several widow friends, and I prefer that she entertain them during her free afternoon as I don't like to chauffeur them home after playing host to them all evening. I have read in your column that one should not judge another until he has walked two weeks in his shoes. I advise you not judge another until you have driven 20 widows home in his "free taxi." Sign me—

NO CHAUFFEUR: DEAR NO: Sorry, but I don't think I was "rough" enough. In every marriage, eventually one must walk alone. If it's the man, his burden is lighter because a man is welcome everywhere — alone. If it's a woman, well, that's a different story.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HATES TO HURT HIM" IN HOUSTON. You don't have to be a doctor to know that a little iodine now is preferable to an amputation later. Say "good-bye," and don't look back.

A letter of commendation was presented to him from the U. S. Army which stated, "If it had not been for your quick thinking and spontaneous reaction to the situation, Pvt. Gray might not be alive today."

The letter further stated: "You were the only individual out of 55 men who thought of helping Pvt. Gray, when his breathing became shallow and erratic, by giving him mouth-to-mouth resuscitation for a period of time exceeding an hour."

HIS MOTHER said the incident happened while he was on training at Ft. Benning, Ga. He has since been transferred to Ft. Gordon, Ga.

Lewis, a member of the Melbourn Army Reserve Unit, is on military leave status from his job with Trans-World Airlines at the Kennedy Space Center. He entered active service in Jan.

Teays Valley FFA Attends Kiwanis Club Meeting

Officers and senior members of the Teays Valley FFA attended the Kiwanis Club meeting for May 9. The members were the invited guests of the Kiwanis to the meet which was held in the Methodist Church.

Both officers and five senior members of the FFA conducted a program for the Kiwanis which consisted of building of the Emblem of the Future Farmers of America. A narrative was given during the assembly of the emblem to give the audience a better idea of what the FFA represents.

"WAR ON U.S." — Justice Michael A. Musmanno of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, a witness before the House Judiciary Subcommittee holding hearings on a bill to make defiling the U.S. flag a federal offense, states in Washington that "anyone who maliciously sets fire to the flag makes war on U.S."

LEHI, Utah (AP) — It was a curious place to find the Frank Sinatra of pro football, Paul Hornung — on a movie set in this Salt Lake City suburb.

What is he doing here? He is playing a two-day role in a movie called "The Devil's Brigade." "I'm just doing it for a kick in the head — and the money," said Hornung. He denies any ambitions to pursue a career on the silver screen. For the time being, Paul intends to limit his acting to the nation's football stadiums and taverns.

The comparison of Hornung and Sinatra does not concern their singing, but their swing.

Both have become noted as the premier bon vivants in their particular lines.

Oddly, both have married in the past year. And just as Sinatra has slowed his swinging pace, so it appears that Hornung has decelerated.

"Sure, I got tired of that racing around," he admitted. "That's why I got married."

Hornung's role calls for him to play a Montana miner in "The Devil's Brigade," and he has a grand total of five lines. His previous acting experience was a similar-sized part in the ill-fated TV show, "My Sister Eileen" six years ago.

You might get the hint that Hornung was cast not for his acting prowess but for the strength of his name as a famous and controversial athlete. You're absolutely right. And Paul has no illusions about why he was hired.

"I'll go along with it," he says with his winning grin.

At the advanced age of 31, Paul Hornung is looking for new fields of endeavor. He has endured 11 seasons in pro football, minus one for bad behavior, and he knows his years as a performing player are numbered. His future is complicated by the fact that he will be spending next season with the New Orleans Saints, having been dra-gooned for the spanking new team after his service with the Green Bay Packers.

Watts Students Find New Dream

By GEORGE ZUCKER

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Twice a week, 30 Negro high school seniors from Watts gather in a laboratory at the University of California at Los Angeles to work on a $1-million business.

It could keep them busy the rest of their lives.

The teen-agers have joined a UCLA engineering class in a unique self help project quietly hailed as the first to capture the Watts area's imagination since the summer rioting of 1965.

A scale model of their dream — a 7½-acre community amusement center — is taking shape in the laboratory.

The youngsters, working with the student engineers, have designed and planned the center. They will help build and operate it; will even be stockholders.

Called the Watts Amusement Center, Inc., the project was inspired by Dr. Morris Asimow, UCLA engineering professor who feels pragmatic capitalism can bring economic independence and dignity to depressed areas more effectively than sympathy and handouts.

Few physical scars remain in Watts as reminders of the bloody rioting of August 1965. With government help, the neighborhood business centers have been rebuilt. Damaged homes have been repaired and painted. A beautification committee donated 1,000 trees.

But most civil rights leaders complain the government largesse did little to remove the racial resentment and hurt.

Asimow, 61, wants to deal with this. He has been able to turn sharecroppers into shareholders in the backward reaches of New Guinea and Brazil and sees no reason why it cannot be done in Watts.

"Anywhere there is a town there are merchants," he says, "and that means local capital. The idea is to make visible the opportunities for investment and provide the technical know-how."

Each year, Asimow gives his senior students a practical introduction to the workaday world of engineering by assigning them the job of planning homes, factories and other building projects.

On one of his forays into Latin America, his students helped plan and design six factories for Brazil.

It was while casting about for such class homework last year that Asimow decided to build something lasting for Watts. He had recently gained a summer grant for one of his top graduate students, Fred Slaughter, a life-long resident of Watts and former captain of the UCLA basketball team.

Slaughter, 25, did much of the groundwork on the project before leaving to work for a law degree at Columbia University in New York.

They met with various business and youth groups in the Negro community to discuss possible enterprises.

Guy Miller, one of the nation's top Negro sculptors, was among the youth leaders contacted. He is a director of one of the 18 teen posts in Watts set up through the Office of Economic Opportunity after the 1965 riots.

"We described our program to him and it caught," said Asimow.

Miller, 57, had criticized previous efforts to solve the sores of racial unrest in Watts.

Now Miller had a ready store of youthful talent and enthusiasm at his Studio 103 teen post, so-called because his programs mostly dwelt on art, drama and photography.

Teen-agers from four high schools set up committees to conceive a project for Asimow and his student engineers.

They came up with an automotive wonderland, bristling with midjet car race tracks and drag strips, a build-it-yourself go-cart shop and including a swimming pool, canopied dance pavilion, skating rink and hot dog stands.

Said Miller: "The amusement center is the first project brought into Watts from the outer community to be warmly received."

Plans are under way with a railroad to buy the necessary land. Asimow hopes supplies and materials will be donated.

"If we get 50 or 60 businessmen to clear their warehouses of unneeded materials," he says, "that alone will put it over."

To raise money, shares in the corporation will be sold throughout southeast Los Angeles. Loans will be floated through commercial banks and the U.S. Small Business Administration.

And Asimow has hopes of getting a $200,000 grant from the federal government, should Congress approve the $75 million President Johnson wants funneled into the nation's big cities to provide jobs for teen-agers this summer.

He figures 300 teen-agers and young adults will be kept busy during the construction phase and that it will take a force of 250 to operate the center once it's built.

"This is no hit or miss proposition," he said. "It will provide continuous employment without continuous funding."

The center, he feels, also will attract a large number of persons who otherwise might never visit Watts.

"The barriers of the ghetto may be reached by his inward flow of people," he says, "as well as by an outward flow of those seeking to escape their environment."

A veteran of 15 years of industrial experience as a metallurgist and business executive, Asimow doesn't minimize the problems ahead. But he is confident ground can be broken this summer.

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is going to be a hard year to remember, unless something happens before the end of it.

The war has been pretty much like last year's war: it has got steadily worse slowly. And Congress has been busy dawdling instead of doing. It's been talking.

President Johnson has been photographed shaking hands, or talking to the press, or walking to a plane. But he has said extraordinarily little for a President in wartime, particularly with the war being criticized so much.

And there hasn't been one truly colorful or distracting character in government or politics.

There has been no one to compare with the attention a Barry Goldwater or a Sen. Joseph McCarthy got, in fervor or hostility. And eye-catchers like President John F. Kennedy or Secretary of State John Foster Dulles have been long gone.

True, Sen. Robert Kennedy has kept himself in the public mind on skis, or shooting the rapids or criticizing the war but he has quieted down a bit and polls show his public appeal has diminished.

Two Republican governors, California's Ronald Reagan and Michigan's George Romney have been sashaying around but the attention they've received so far has probably been more curiosity about what makes them tick than anything else.

The days of presidential-congressional uproar went out with President Harry S. Truman. Johnson never did business that way anyway. His technique is head-to-head talks pushing and compromise.

But this year there's little evidence he did much of that or anything with Congress which has been foot-dragging like many Congresses of the past when they didn't have a president on their back every minute.

Unless Congress comes to life in these next few months, this will be a sorry legislative year. It's even hard to recall the voice of any member of Congress this year except that of Sen. Russell Long, D-La.,—antagonizing his colleagues in the campaign financing debate—and the screeching of doves and hawks about the war.

This war, routine as it seems on a day-by-day basis, has been practically the whole show and for a number of reasons: those who can't stand the thought of it, or want it calmed down or stepped up or who ignore frustration and demand negotiation.

All of it sounds somber because behind all of it is the deep

China Denies Truth Of Malley Report

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China officially denied Tuesday that Premier Chou En-lai had given an interview to Simon Malley, correspondent for the French-language magazine Jeune Afrique and other African newspapers.

Peking's official New China News Agency said the Chinese Foreign Ministry denied as "fabrication" Malley's report of an interview with Chou, which was published in the Chicago Daily News.

fear that this limited engagement, unless ended, may burst into a vast Asia war with Red China.

Johnson himself has been an almost baffling figure through it all. Another president might feel it necessary to give the nation repeated pep talks or explanations. But he has pretty well avoided both, staying almost silent.

Yet, this Silent Sam attitude of Johnson's is a very tough one. While saying little, he has steadily built up the American action and participation in the war.

Just because of this, it would seem, the Communist side by this time should, and probably does, realize it is not dealing with a softly in the White House.

If the American people feel frustrated by the slow-paced, limited nature of the war, Johnson must feel like a man wrestling a 10-story building.

He has a war to fight but he has to be cautious for humane reasons, because of the ever-present world opinion, and because he must avoid giving the Red Chinese an excuse for getting into the fight, if they need an excuse.

That's his worst dilemma of all: he doesn't know whether Red China will butt in for any reason, or none at all, or if it won't.

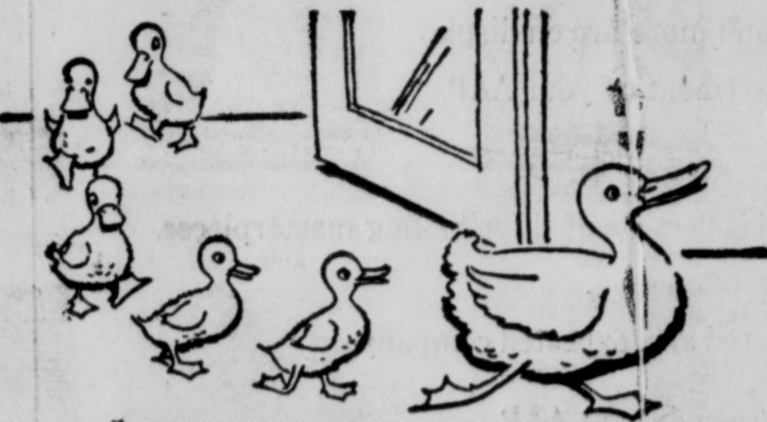

Now 15 senators from both parties want to try their hand at appealing to Hanoi to listen to reason. They're under a handi cap before they start since this kind of appeal is getting shovelled before they start. And reason is something that depends on who's doing the talking.

INSURANCE AGENTS MEET — State Senator Harry Armstrong spoke to the Pickaway County Insurance Agent's Assn. on a proposed bill to amend the workmen's compensation laws of Ohio. The bill would give employers the opportunity to select either state workmen's compensation or to purchase a plan from a private insurance company. Attending the meeting, were from the left: Clarence Blosser, Lawrence Johnson, Sterling Poling, Senator Armstrong, David Sealock, Eugene F. Owens, Darrell Hatfield, Clark Zwayer, Bud Stein and Paul Brown.

Teacher Demand Grows As Supply Grows Less

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's schools will need about 13,500 more teachers in 1967-68 than in the current school year — but public education officials admit there is little chance of getting them.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Martin Essex sees the Ohio teacher situation as critical.

Two big problems face school administrators:

Low teacher salaries and Ohio voters' failure to approve school levies.

"There is no question that there is a national shortage of qualified teachers," said Essex, "and it doesn't offer an easy solution."

A series of developments has worsened the teacher shortage, Essex said:

"The great expansion of city and junior colleges has taken some of our personnel. The development and encouragement of federal programs has taken about 2,000 Ohio teachers," he said.

"The Vietnam war has diminished the potential supply of a large number of young men. The economy is up and industry has attracted several teachers, especially those in specialized areas such as science and industrial arts. These factors added to the already existing shortages which have not been met since World War II. have made the situation critical," Essex said.

Last year, Ohio schools reported 1,079 positions unfilled by Oct. 1. Dr. Wayne Carl, Essex's assistant, said this figure is deceiving and doesn't show the true shortage. Critical positions would be filled by some workable substitute plan by Oct. 1, he said.

The Ohio Education Association (OEA) estimates a teacher shortage of 10,000 annually. About 10,000 to 12,000 are needed to replace retirees, and those who leave for other professions or other states, according to Dr. Robert Miner, OEA research director.

Another 3,000 to 4,000 teachers are needed to meet increased enrollments, he said.

Ohio's average yearly salary for teachers is $300 below the national level. Ohio paid $6,534 in 1966-67. Michigan's teachers averaged $7,300; Indiana's $7,377; Pennsylvania pays them $6,815 on the average and West Virginia, $5,450 and Kentucky's get $5,400.

The state must pay a teacher at least $4,500—and many rural districts pay no more than that. The OEA hopes to boost this to $5,000 and establish a minimum salary scale requiring raises for seniority.

Hamilton County had the average of $7,043 for its teachers in a recent breakdown—Ohio's highest average. Montgomery was second with $7,020.

But, Meigs County paid its teachers an average of only $4,598—more than $2,400 less than Hamilton County teachers were paid.

"The local voting record (on school levies) is not good," Essex said.

Results of elections on school issues over the past five years are staggering. Overall, only 65.5 per cent of the school levies and bond issues passed.

"Repeated voting on school issues is a depressant on education in Ohio," the school official said. "Ohio's schools are faced with a nearly insurmountable problem of repeatedly going to the polls 21th school levies. Voters are tired of hearing about school money issues. . ."

Teachers have turned to strikes for gaining their demand—which mostly boil down to more money.

Essex broke teacher strikes down into four categories — a fight over who will represent teachers; strikes against local working conditions; a demand for a particular bargaining agent or strikes to make voters and the public aware of a situation.

"Teachers are fully aware their services are in demand," Essex said, "and they can be independent as to where they teach. In addition, they are militant in the opinion they should improve their position in society."

Some school programs — such as brand trips or sports events—have been dropped because of funds shortages.

The Versailles School District in Darke County was forced to close its schools for one month — no funds because of a voter rejection of a school levy.

Some districts have resorted to non-degree teachers on temporary certificates for substitute teachers—or a cadet teacher program.

Over the past five years, the number of temporary certificate teachers has averaged 19,850 a year. There were 23,282 temporary certificates issued for the current school year.

Essex and other public education leaders in Ohio can offer no foolproof solution. After examining the complex causes for the teacher shortage, they do agree on two points:

More money is needed for providing more teachers. And the additional funds can come only from the ballot box.

Braves Defeat Mets, 6-3

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Atlanta Braves are running short on strongarms, but their best glove is helping make up the difference—with his bat. Cleve Boyer, the Braves' slick-fielding third baseman, belted a two-run double and bases-empty homer in Tuesday night's 6-3 victory over the New York Mets.

The home run was the fourth this season for Boyer, who was acquired in a winter trade with the New York Yankees, and the 100th of his career. He has driven in 13 runs for the Braves, helping sluggers Hank Aaron, Joe Torre & Co. compensate for the loss of two injured pitching standouts.

Tony Cloninger, the club's right-handed ace, was placed on the disabled list Tuesday because of blurred vision in his left eye. Ken Johnson, a veteran right-hander, has been sidelined with a virus ailment.

Catcher Torre, tied with Aaron for the National League home run lead at eight apiece, joined the casualty list with a banged-up right index finger. Torre, however, was pressed into service in the fourth inning Tuesday night when his replacement, Gene Oliver, got thrown out of the game for protesting a call.

Reliever Jay Ritchie, who also entered the game in the fourth, made Boyer's timely hitting stand up by retiring all 16 batters he faced to earn his first NL victory.

"That homer leaves me only 400 behind Mickey Mantle," Boyer quipped after the Braves' victory lifted them over the .500 mark at 15-14. "And he's 35 years old; I'm only 30."

Elsewhere, 1 e a g u e-leading Cincinnati downed Pittsburgh 6-3. St. Louis nipped Philadelphia 4-3. San Francisco beat Chicago 3-1 and Los Angeles whipped Houston 6-1.

Westfall Bats Boom in 16-1 SVC Victory

A 12-hit attack propelled Westfall to a 16-1 Scioto Valley Conference baseball victory over host school Laurelville Tuesday.

While the Mustangs were rapping out a dozen hits, sophomore hurler Don Combs limited the Wildcats to five.

Combs fanned 15 and walked one during his mound effort. Mike Farley, the losing pitcher, struck out seven and walked six.

Combs was the leading hitter for the Mustangs, driving in three runs with a double and two singles.

Greg Bingham cracked three singles, driving in two runs and Mike Allen was credited with two runs batted in on one single.

Pat Whaley and John Furniss both hit a pair of singles.

Cincinnati Reds Hand Pirates Another Defeat

CINCINNATI (AP) — Mel Queen, Cincinnati outfielder-turned-pitcher, made his ex-Pirate father happy, but left the present-day Pittsburgh Pirates in shock.

Queen's six-hit pitching and a comedy of errors by the usually sure-fingered Pirates combined to give the National League-leading Reds a 6-3 victory Tuesday night that increased their margin over the second-place Bucs to four games.

Queen, following in the footsteps of his father Mel Queen Sr., who pitched for the Pirates circa 1950, said after the game, "Dad is happier now that I am a pitcher rather than an outfielder."

The Pirates couldn't care less about Queen Sr.'s happiness. They suffered their second straight setback at the hands of the streaking Reds, and once again in strange fashion.

HOT ROD — Rookie Rod Carew, second baseman of the Minnesota Twins, is on a hot hitting streak while playing fine defensive ball for the Twins. Rod, up from Wilson of the Carolina League, recently had seven hits in a row. Carew, 20, is from Gatun, Panama Canal Zone, and is demon on bases.

Braves Defeated 1-0, by Piketon

Logan Elm lost a 1-0 decision to Piketon Tuesday in a Scioto Valley conference baseball game played on the winner's diamond.

The winning run was a freak homerun in the bottom half of the seventh.

Roberts, the winning pitcher, blasted a long hit to left field, where it bounced at nearly right angles off a corner of a building and rolled across a paved area away from the fielder.

In addition to the winning hit, Roberts fanned seven, scattered five Logan Elm hits and walked one in a seven inning performance.

Russ Merrin was the losing pitcher. He struck out six, walked one and was touched for six hits.

The Braves came up with two double plays in the game.

Vikings Hand Whitehall 3-1 Diamond Loss

Teays Valley, behind a two hit pitching effort by John Beavers, defeated Whitehall, 3-1, Tuesday in a Metropolitan League baseball game played on the Viking diamond.

Going the route for the Vikings as they picked up their third win in eight league starts, Beavers fanned seven and walked four.

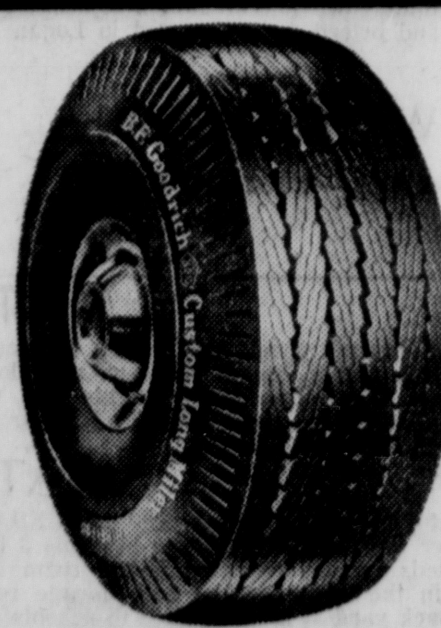

In addition to his mound effort, the senior Viking hurler blasted a two run single in the second inning that drove in the winning runs.

The Vikings scored in the first inning when Rex Gregg singled, advanced to second when Mike Lombardo was walked, stole third base and moved home on a wild throw at third.

THE RAMS deadlocked the game in the top of the second inning on a walk, an error and a sacrifice fly.

In the bottom half of the same frame, Tim Wells was safe on an error and Jim Chapin singled, setting the stage for Beaver's two run blast.

man on second in the 11th inning when Yankee Manager Ralph Houk waved him in, the fifth New York pitcher. The score was 3-3.

Tiltonson proceeded to: —Get Larry Brown on a grounder for the third out.

—Open the Yankee 11th with a single on the first pitch. —Score when Mickey Mantle slapped a bases-loaded single, giving him his first victory.

The 4-3 Yankee triumph snapped a four-game winning streak by Cleveland and dropped the Tribe from fifth to seventh place in the American League.

Tiltonson, after his single, moved up on Horace Clarke's infield hit, then Dick Howser beat out a bunt.

Mantle, hitless in three trips, tagged reliever Bob Allen with a solid shot that cleared Lee Maye's head in left field.

New York had tied the game in the eighth when Joe Pepitone singled in two runs. Cleveland starter Sam McDowell put the second runner to score (Steve Whitaker) in position when he threw past first on Whitaker's grounder with one out.

Clarke earlier gave the Yankees a 1-0 lead in the first when he singled, moved to third on two walks, and scored on a double play.

The Indians scored all of their runs in the fifth, with two out.

Max Alvis singled. Pedro Gonzalez doubled. Howser fielded Chuck Hinton's grounder and threw wildly past first base as Alvis and Gonzalez scored.

Rocky Colavito drove in Hinton with a single.

Colavito, pushing for a full-time job in the outfield rather than part-time as a platoon man, went 2-foot-3, elevating his batting average to .325.

The Indians send Steve Hargan to the hill tonight against the Yanks' Fred Talbot.

The Reds scored three runs without benefit of a base hit in the second inning en route to their fourth straight victory. Meanwhile, Woody Fryman and Steve Blass held Cincinnati hitless until Tony Perez doubled and Lee May singled in the sixth inning. But they walked eight.

Only three Red runs were earned. Pittsburgh catcher Jesse Gonder had an error and two passed balls. Willie Stargall and Blass each had an error and Blass made a wild pitch that allowed a run to score. The Reds stole three bases on Gonder.

The Reds got just four hits, but the Pirates nicked Queen for only three until adding three — and all their runs — in the ninth inning.

Queen, who started pitching only late last season at the urging of Bristol, brought his record to 5-1, tops for the Reds. He struck out nine. It was his second complete game.

When Queen weakened the Reds also got in on the miscue act. Matty Alou's double, two errors, singles by Roberto Clemente and Bill Mazeroski produced the runs.

Fryman, who suffered the loss, walked five batters in last night's 1-0 defeat. He loaded the bases on walks in the second inning.

Blass took over and wild pitched home the Reds' first run. He then struck out Tommy Harper, but Gonder allowed the ball to get by him. Harper dashed to first base on Gonder's wild throw two more Reds crossed the plate.

Views on Television — Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A live weekly news review on a network of more than 125 educational television stations promises to be the brightest, freshest—and most controversial—spot on the dial next season.

The experimental project, underwritten by a $10-million grant from the Ford Foundation for two years, is scheduled to start Oct. 29. It will be on Sunday nights for at least three hours, perhaps even four.

It was conceived by Fred W. Friendly, the rangy giant who last year stormed out of CBS News, of which he was president, after the parent network broadcast a rerun of "I Love Lucy" instead of covering a foreign affairs hearing by a Senate committee. He is now a television adviser for the foundation.

Although he has a parent's love for his brainchild, Friendly has turned it over to a trusted former associate to avoid being both a donor and recipient of the Ford funds.

Even so, he talks about the plans as "we," rather than "they," who are former CBS News producer Av Westin, executive producer of the series, and his staff.

"We're really trying to turn the clock back to the not distant past when television time was not so expensive," Friendly explained. "When air time became so expensive, the commercial networks had to go for the lowest common denominator in audiences. We are trying to recreate the climate of a time when the cost of air time did not price experimentation out of the market."

Westin, he said, will operate with a staff of perhaps 50—they have over 1,000 applications—and most of them are young and aggressive.

"Commercial television's worst sins are of omission," Friendly said. "Our program, if it were going now, would be taking a look at this business about the cost of drugs. It would have taken up the Ralph Nader book. It should be controversial and not afraid to look at Harlem's problems, at Vietnam, the death of a newspaper, theater—everything."

"Sure, it will make a lot of people angry. Sure, there will be rotten nights, but there will also be nights when you want to see and hear more. There will be things with which you disagree violently. There will be plays that shock you. You are going to hear opinions from everybody from the lunatic left to the lunatic right, and even the lunatic center."

Friendly, always a mover and shaker, believes the program will stir up news operations on the commercial networks. He believes that the popular TV documentary form is outmoded—"There has got to be more than that because the one thing that television does uniquely is make the viewer participate."

He thinks that where commercial television, because of assorted pressures tends to be bland, public television, without sponsors, should bite, sting, amaze, excite, curiosity and emotion.

"It's not my hobby any more," he said "but I think it's pretty exciting."

He glanced at a framed sign in his office. It said: "If you believe in great things, you may be able to make other people believe in them."

Obviously, he does and has.

CITIZENS AWARDED — Five local citizens were recognized Tuesday for their unselfish actions in the April 15 downtown tragedy. Critics Opposed To Viet Retreat

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's determination to see the war through in Vietnam gets backing today from 15 senators critical of his policies.

Without moderating their dissent, 13 Democrats and 2 Republicans planned to make public a declaration aimed at North Vietnam's leaders saying they are steadfastly opposed to any American withdrawal until there is an honorable settlement of the war.

As a notice to Ho Chi Minh that he cannot count on criticism, demonstrations and protests to weaken U.S. resolve to secure South Vietnam against aggression, the move was welcomed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, chief sponsor of the declaration, said in an interview that "because the situation is so delicate," he submitted the statement to Rusk in advance.

He said Rusk felt a statement of this nature by the President's critics might have more chance of being accepted as truth by Hanoi than all of the declarations by the administration and its supporters that there will be no American pullout.

The declaration carries the signatures of such vigorous senatorial critics of Johnson's war course as J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee; George S. McGovern, D-S.D.; Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., and Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

Republicans who signed are Sens. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky and Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon. The sponsors failed, however, to enlist some other GOP dissenters to Johnson's conduct of the war.

Church made it clear the signers believe the war has reached a critical point, where the failure of Hanoi to respond to negotiation has hardened Johnson's determination to escalate the U.S. military effort.

They believe any substantial expansion of the fighting and bombing will make it more likely that Communist China will intervene. If that happens, they feel the Soviet Union also will become involved, thus ushering in World War III.

With that in mind, Clark urged Johnson in a Senate speech Tuesday to order an indefinite American cease-fire beyond the one-day truce scheduled for Buddha's birthday, May 23.

The Pennsylvania senator suggested suspending the bombing of North Vietnam and ordering U.S. troops not to fire unless fired upon.

He said these moves should be accompanied by efforts to enlist U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant, Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain in an attempt to get Hanoi to the negotiating table.

There was no indication, however, that Johnson would be willing to undertake any such cease-fire.

But Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he had received some encouragement from White House officials for his proposal that the United States take the Vietnam question to the United Nations Security Council. He did not elaborate.

At the United Nations, U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg agreed with Mansfield that the United Nations has a responsibility to seek peace in Vietnam. He said the United States would welcome Security Council consideration of the conflict.

Interview Session Held For Veterans

This is a training program sponsored by the Circleville Chamber of Commerce and BPO Elks as part of the program of the Circleville Committee for employment of restored patients.

The program is an effort to help train these men for the time when they will return to society and will apply for jobs.

Handling the interviewing were Earl Palm of the Second National Bank, David Gillespie Owens-Illinois, C. K. Vaughn of Du Pont and Charles Baker of Columbia Gas.

The veterans were brought to the meeting by Thomas Pagniano, a psychology technician at the Veterans Hospital.

Madison Garden Scene of Riot

NEW YORK (AP) — Puerto Rican fighters will be barred from main events at Madison Square Garden for a cooling-off period, it was learned today following the second riot within 10 weeks and the third in 21 months at a fight show in the famed arena.

Bottles, pieces of chairs and other missiles were tossed into the ring and the ringside sections Tuesday night shortly after light-heavyweight champion Dick Tiger of Nigeria was awarded a split decision over Puerto Rican-born Jose Torres in a very close return, 15-round title bout.

Eleven persons suffered cuts and were treated at nearby hospitals, police reported. None of the victims was reported seriously hurt. No arrests were reported.

The other two riots involved fights featuring Puerto Rican-born Frankie Narvaez, a New York lightweight who lost both times.

In the first, Narvaez dropped a split decision in a close fight with Flash Elorde of the Philipines on Aug. 4, 1965. In the second, on March 10, 1967, Panama's Ismael Laguna decisively whipped Narvaez and was awarded a unanimous decision by whopping margins.

As a result of the third riot, a proposed title fight between lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz, a Puerto Rican-born New Yorker, and Laguna may not be held in New York or may be put been considered a sure sellout.

Tiger had dethroned the 3-1 favored Torres on a decisive and unanimous decision at the Garden last Dec. 16 before a crowd of 13,654 that paid $100,488. There were no disorders at that fight.

In the return bout, Torres, with an advantage in age, weight, height and reach, was favored again, this time by narrower 8-5 odds. It drew a crowd of 12,674 and $104,459, and grossed $60,000 more from national television.

A late surge by the 31-year-old Torres excited his followers and probably touched off the riot. Well behind on all scorecards, he staggered the 37-year-old Nigerian with a sweeping left and right to the jaw in the 12th round and captured the last four rounds on all scorecards.

Five Cited For Acts at Tragedy Scene

Five Circleville citizens received awards of merit Tuesday from Mayor Ben Gordon and Police Chief Robert Temple for their heroic efforts in the tragic April 15 fire and explosion which claimed five lives and destroyed three downtown business firms.

Receiving citations commending their actions in an emergency where the toll could have been much higher were Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe, Patrolman Jack Mills, Darrell Hatfield, Dennis Brown and Robert Scranton.

Chief Temple said, "The community owes much to these individuals. It is a comforting fact to know there are citizens willing to jump in and help us when there is a need."

Today the men are to be guests at a Southeastern Ohio Police Officers' Luncheon at the Holiday Inn, Chillicothe. Judge Sammons of the Chillicothe Municipal Court will present the local citizens with award praising their aid to the Circleville Police Department.
